

Profile	Description Profile	Code
Practitioner	Actively contributes to the development of biological sciences, demonstrates sensitivity in identifying challenges related to technological advancement and environmental sustainability, and is capable of applying biological knowledge creatively and innovatively to solve problems. This includes planning, implementing, and supervising the sustainable use of natural resources, conservation efforts, and other biological applications in a professional context.	PL1
Lecturer / Academic	Demonstrates the ability to pursue further studies in biology or related fields to enhance academic qualifications and contribute to the advancement of knowledge. Equipped to engage in academic or professional activities in line with the demands of the Industrial 4.0 and Society 5.0 eras.	PL2
Researcher	Capable of solving biology-related problems in specific domains through procedural approaches and by utilizing appropriate laboratory instruments, thus contributing to research and scientific innovation.	PL3
Entrepreneur	Able to develop and produce environmentally friendly biological products by utilizing the potential of humid tropical forest resources and ecosystems, based on sustainable and procedural approaches.	PL4